

B3 - Mobile Details Page

User Goal: Select / View Destinations around the World

Destination: Supertubos, Peniche Portugal

- Destination Information

- Description

Surfers everywhere are pretty tuned into the smells of their local beach. In Southern California, dry off-shores tinge the air with chaparral; in parts of Australia, the smell of eucalyptus wafts out to the lineup and in Hawaii, the plumeria kicks in with the trades. The smells are almost as much of the surfing experience as the waves themselves.

The Supertubos experience is no different, though inarguably far worse smelling. There's a fish factory at the north end of the beach that pumps out the pungent odor of drying and decomposing fish bits and coats the lineup with a briny smoke. But a little stench is a small price to pay for the roundness of the beach break barrels.

Make no mistake: Supertubos is one of the best waves in Europe. There's one main peak with a super-fast (though makeable) left, and a somewhat shorter right, and one other peak down the beach that's not quite as perfect but still way better than your average day at Huntington Pier.

- Photo (default)

- Gallery (user supplied)

- Details

- Wave type (beach break, point break, slab break)

- Bottom type (sand, rock, gravel, reef)

- Best Season (spring, summer, fall, winter)

- Best Tide (low, mid, high)

- Best Swell Direction (N, S, E, W, NE, SE, SW etc.)

- Best Board type (short, fish, mid, gun, long)

- Crowds (low, average, high, forget it)

- Ability Level (beginner, intermediate, advanced)

- Current Conditions

- Current wave height (presented in feet/meters)

- Current wind speed (presented in Mph/Knts)

- Current tide schedule (show times for high/low tides)

- Current air/h2O temps (each presented in F/C degrees)

Formatted Details

Visual Example of possible layout to above content (do not copy identically)

Details

Wave Type	Beach Break
Bottom Type	Rock
Best Board Type	Long
Best Season	Winter
Best Tide	High
Best Swell Direction	SW
Crowds	Medium - High
Ability Level	Intermediate to Advanced

Current Conditions

Wave Height	4 - 6 ft.
Swell Direction	WSW - 200°
Winds	W - 5mph
Tides	High: 7:22am - Low: 1:30pm

Members Only Content

Available only to users who have signed up

- Add a Destination Bookmark (Surf Saver)
 - Titles stored by Country, Region, Beach (break)
- Destination Cams
 - Viewable (no cam controls)
- Tips/Tricks
 - What to bring
 - Getting here
 - Eating
 - Sleeping
 - Nearby Usefuls

Surf Saver (Bookmarks List)

Example for a formatted bookmarks list. Create your own layout. Add interactive elements like icons to add and remove bookmarks.

Country	Region	Destination
United States	Hawaii, Oahu	Pipeline
France	Southwest France	Graviere
Spain	Northern Spain	Mundaka
Australia	Gold Coast	Snapper Rocks
Nicaragua	Pacific Coast	Maderas
Fiji	Tavarua	Restaurants
Africa	South Coast	Jeffrey's Bay
Peru	Central Peru	Chicama

Tips and Tricks

Use Module Tabs or List Inlay Design Patterns to layout the following content. To illustrate the News Stream Design Pattern, one category must show multiple entries.

What to Bring: (1 of 100+ user generated submissions for this category)

Bring along a Portuguese dictionary and a good attitude. The locals are down to earth and always happy to welcome new visitors to their beautiful land, but rarely speak English. Some of the nearby surf camps have all of the gear you would need to rent, but for the nomadic traveler on an adventure, make sure to bring a few extra leashes, wax and a blanket for those north winds that whip across town at night making it rather chilly in the evening hours.

Submitted by: Kelly Slater

Getting Here: (this will be 1 of 100+ possible user generated submissions for this category)

Head east Go through 3 traffic circles. Take the ramp onto A25. Take the ramp to Ílhavo/Figueira da Foz/Lisboa, Merge onto A17 a Partial toll road. Take exit 8 toward A14/Coimbra/Figueira da Foz/A1. Merge onto Auto-Estrada Figueira da Foz- Coimbra Norte . Take the exit onto A14 toward Figueira da Foz. Take exit 1 toward Lisboa/Leiria. Merge onto N109 .At the traffic circle, take the 1st exit onto Rotunda do Pescador. At the traffic circle, take the 2nd exit onto R. Adolfo Gonçalves Santiago. Turn left to stay on R. Adolfo Gonçalves Santiago. Slight right at R. do Cabedelo. Slight right to stay on R. do Cabedelo.

Submitted by: Benji Weatherly

Eating: (this will be 1 of 100+ possible user generated submissions for this category)

If you're going low budget, there's a big Intermarche just as you head into Peniche on the left. If you're in the mood for some decently priced fresh-grilled fish, head over to the waterfront just past downtown. Out at Baleal, there's a bunch of overpriced fish restaurants, and as you head north toward

Ferrel, there's Roche Mar that seems to cater to the plethora of novice German surfers, some of whom are of the female persuasion, if you're into that sort of thing.

Submitted by: Sophia Mulonovich

Sleeping: (this will be 1 of 100+ possible user generated submissions for this category)

There's an official campground right by Supertubos (approx. 500-1,000 esc/night; ph: 262-789-529), but if you feel like going Clan of the Cave Bear and have a fully self-contained unit, you can join the rest of Team Deutschland in the bluffs north of Baleal, and that's as free as you're gonna get. If you're into more plush accommodations, stop by the Turismo (ph: 262-789-571) in town, and they'll have more than a few suggestions. One option at Baleal is the Atlantis (approx 7,000 esc/night dbl. with breakfast; ph: 262-769-966), and in downtown Peniche, an option is Mili Residencial (approx 7,000 esc/night dbl. with breakfast; ph: 262-783-918). Some of the folks at the beachside restaurants may also have info on places to rent.

Submitted by: Bede Durbidge

Nearby Usefuls: (this will be 1 of 100+ possible user generated submissions for this category)

Other than amping out on little coffees and strolling around the ultra-quiet fishing town of Peniche, if you're in the mood to bash your knees up, there's a graffiti-filled skatepark on the way into town on the right just before the Turismo office; there's a waterpark right by the campground and the Gothic-walled town of Obidos is about 20 minutes east if it's most certainly flat. If you get a kick out of watching flailing boards and bodies, check out the Northern Europeans learning to surf at the beachbreaks north of Baleal. In Peniche, on the main street coming into town, there's the Rip Curl Surf Shop (ph: 262-781-720), which has gear and rents boards.

Submitted by: Andy Irons

Design Patterns

Utilize these Design Patterns for your wireframes. Definitions found in your textbook.

-
1. Escape hatch (back)
 2. Titled sections
 3. Vertical Stack
 4. Film Strip (gallery)
 5. Touch Tools (gallery)
 6. Thumbnail and Text List (destinations details)
 7. Generous Borders
 8. Progress Indicator (webcam)
 9. Streamlined Branding
 10. List Inlay or Module Tabs (Tips & Tricks)
 11. News Stream (Tips & Tricks)
 12. Infinite List (Tips & Tricks)

Note: Don't forget to annotate each Design Pattern on your wireframes. Make sure to check the Grading Rubric for all of your requirements.